STRIKE OF 2000 TRADESMEN IS SETTLED

Lawrence Strikers Agree to Return to Work Following a Meeting of Contractors and Union Leaders

(Special to The Herald)
Lawrence, Mass., Aug. 16.—Two thousand tradesmen in this city and suburbs have through their representatives in the Allied Trades Council, practically agreed to return to work, following a meeting of the contractors and union leaders at Mayor Hurley's office. It is expected that the strike which was declared two weeks ago will terminate.

AUSTRIAN AEROPLANES ARE BUSY

In Bombardment Against the Italian Works on the Lower Isonzo.

(Special to The Herald)
Vienna, Aug. 16.—Austrian naval aeroplanes are carrying out continuous bombardment against Italian works on the lower Isonzo. The Admiralty announced today that railroads and military works at the mouth of the river were bombarded on the night of Aug. 14.

NEW OFFICERS ARRIVE.

A meeting will be held in Salvation Army Hall on State street at 8 o'clock this evening to welcome Capt. and Mrs. J. W. Lawrence, the new officers who have been ordered to take charge of the work in this city. Capt. and Mrs. Beech, who have been ordered to Framingham, Mass., left today for that city to take up their duties there.

RUSSIANS TAKE MANY PRISONERS

Also More Than 1000 Machine Guns From Austro-Hungarian Forces.

(Special to The Herald)
Petrograd, Aug. 16.—Between June 4 and Aug. 12, the Russian armies under Gen. Brusiloff captured 358,000 Austro-Hungarian and German, including 7,567 officers. It was officially announced today by the war office. More than 1,000 machine guns were also taken.

MARRIED ON TUESDAY

The wedding of two well known young people took place on Tuesday when Miss Helen Fingleton became the bride of Charles E. Hoyt. The ceremony was performed by J. B. Waldron, justice of the peace. The groom is a travelling salesman and the bride has for some time filled the position of bookkeeper at the office of Dr. S. P. A. Pickering.

MORE FIGHTING IS FEARED IN MANCHURIA

Japanese Garrison Is Reinforced by Additional Troops.

(Special to The Herald)
Tokyo, Aug. 16.—Reinforcements of Japanese infantry, cavalry and military police have arrived at Cheng-Chia-Tun, Manchuria, where the Japanese garrison was attacked on Monday by Chinese troops, losing eighteen men including one officer. More fighting in that district is feared. Japanese newspapers are clamoring for indemnity and punishment of the Chinese troops.

LULL IN THE INFANTRY FIGHTING

Aeroplanes Attack French Fortress of Belfort.

(Special to The Herald)
Paris, Aug. 16.—There was a lull last night in the infantry fighting along the French front of the Somme river and at Verdun. The French war office stated that there were no actions in either of these sections. There were cannonades on both sides of varying intensity. A squadron of German aeroplanes attacked the French fortress of Belfort dropping many bombs. The communication says there were no casualties.

UNDERWENT AN OPERATION AT HOSPITAL

Mrs. Carrie Pitman of Pepperell, Mass., head waitress at the Hotel Oceanic, Isles of Shoals, was taken suddenly ill during the night and was brought to this city in a motor boat. She was taken to the Portsmouth hospital where she was operated upon at 4 o'clock Wednesday morning for appendicitis. She is reported as resting as comfortably as can be expected.

NEW PERILS FOR THE AUSTRO-GERMAN ARMY

Calls the Kaiser to the Russian Front to Confer With General Von Hindenburg

(Special to The Herald)
Petrograd, Aug. 16.—Gen. Brusiloff's armies are again attacking along the line in Galicia but the hardest blows are being driven home all the ends of the line. The new perils for the Austro-German army which have been brought about by this latest burst of Russian activity accounts for the hasty departure of the German Kaiser for the Russian front where he is at present conferring with von Hindenburg. The blow struck in the Carpathians 15 miles south of Delatin where the Russians have captured Jablonitz is not only a serious menace to the flank of the Austro-German army but also imperils Jablonitz, one of the main gateways into the Hungarian plains. Northeast of Stanislaw the Russians are pouring across the Zlota Lipa river and are overrunning the hipp positions of the Austro-Germans west of the upper Sereth river and south of the Lemberg railway. The Germans are using great masses of artillery in an effort to check the Russians. A dispatch from Kiev reports the arrival there of many hundreds of fresh Austro-German prisoners, all of whom showed the keenest defection.

STREET CARS IN COLLISION IN PROVIDENCE

Four Persons Badly Injured Are Removed to Hospital.

(Special to The Herald)
Providence, Aug. 16.—Four persons were so seriously injured that they were removed to hospitals today, when a street car getting beyond the control of the motorman on Friendship street, crashed into another car. Twelve passengers were removed to their homes in automobiles.

FAIRBANKS AND ROOSEVELT TO VISIT MAINE

(Special to The Herald)
New York, Aug. 16.—Charles W. G. Fairbanks, vice presidential candidate on the Republican ticket, and Col. Roosevelt will throw their oratorical force into the Maine campaign. Mr. Fairbanks will speak in the far eastern state on Sept. 5 and 6. The dates for the Colonel have not yet been announced.

UNKNOWN WOMAN FOUND AT OLD ORCHARD

(Special to The Herald)
Old Orchard, Aug. 16.—The body of an unidentified young woman was found early today in the water at Ocean Park. The woman's hat had the word "Flossie" written on the inside.

DECREASE OF DEATH RATE IN NEW YORK

(Special to The Herald)
New York, Aug. 16.—A decrease of 50 in new cases and 5 in deaths from infantile paralysis were reported today. Today's report shows 113 new cases and 31 deaths.

HUGHES GIVEN FLATTERING RECEPTION

Winds Up Tour of Washington State With Big Meeting at Seattle.

(Special to The Herald)
Portland, Oregon, Aug. 16.—Winding up his tour of Washington state with a big meeting in Seattle last night, Charles E. Hughes today is spending the day and where he was scheduled to make several speeches before leaving for San Francisco. The ex-governor was given a flattering reception on his arrival here this morning. Following a short street parade, he and Mrs. Hughes were driven to the Hotel Benz where they were tendered a reception.

STRATHAM GAY WITH BANNERS

Chief Celebration of Town's 200th Anniversary Begins With Parade.

The town of Stratham is gay with decorations and many former residents are home to take part in the 200th anniversary celebration. The day's festivities opened with a parade under the marshmanship of George C. Jewell which started at the Plains school house and moved over the "King's Highway" to Stratham Hill park, a distance of three miles. At 11 o'clock a band concert was given by the Newmarket Cornet band. At noon there was a basket dinner. The afternoon program consists of an address of welcome by Frank H. Pearson, president of the day; historical sketch by Mrs. Annie W. Seaman; address by Rev. Dr. Chalmers of Manchester. One of the features of the afternoon program was the baseball game between the Old Nine of ten years ago and the present team. The old timers were composed of G. Jewell, B. Gowen, P. Gowen, H. Stockbridge, H. Simpson, B. Brewster, S. P. Jewell, H. B. Gowen, and Chapman et al.

CRISIS IN THE RAILROAD STRIKE NEAR AT HAND

Definite Proposals of Compromise Must Be Passed Upon By Both Men and Managers on Thursday

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, Aug. 16.—The crisis in the threatened railway strike will be reached here Thursday. At that time definite proposals of compromise must be passed upon by both the railway managers and the men. Until then the administration will "mark time" and unless the representatives of the roads of the big four brotherhoods request further conferences none will be held. The situation today is near a deadlock. Despite this fact the general feeling is that a way out is certain to be found.

"There has been no break. Both sides are honestly discussing a way out," was a White House statement. The situation is as follows: At Tuesday's conference the President was told by the managers that they had been called upon to make all concessions and had failed to receive any in return from the men. They said that they could not agree to a one-sided plan. Previously representatives of the brotherhoods told the President that they could not recede from their decision, that over-time pay was not a factor of the present negotiations. In connection with the plan the President had in mind the calling to Washington of the railroad presidents to see whether they could not find him. When this proposition was submitted today, the committee of managers sent word to the White House through Judge Chambers of the board of mediation that there was no use of calling for the President. The committee of managers, Judge Chambers was authorized to tell the President, had absolute authority to deal with the present situation. When this word reached the White House the President decided that there was no use in discussing the matter further with the managers today. Secretary Taft said that unless either side requested to be heard there would be no conferences today. Administration officials insisted that the situation had reached a stage where the President had made definite proposals to both sides. The nature of these proposals cannot now be disclosed, but in effect they call upon the railroads to grant the eight demand of the men—the 8-hour day—with collateral questions to be submitted to the arbitration of a non-partisan board of arbitration. Whether the collateral questions also carry with them the question of extra pay for overtime, is a subject on which none of the officials agree. The exact facts are known only to the President and the committee, and the President has demanded that they refrain from talking at this time.

TERRIFIC FIGHTING IN GALICIA

On the Front Lying Between the Dneister River and Zaloncz.

Vienna, Aug. 16.—Terrific fighting has developed in Galicia between Austro-Hungarian troops and Russians on the front lying between the Dneister river and a point south of Zaloncz, says an official statement dated Aug. 14, made public today.

U. S. MARINES CORPS 6, KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS 4

Winners go Into Second Place by Defeating Knights in Interesting Contest.--Kelley Had One Bad Session in First Inning.

Three singles, a triple, and one error, hit out by the U. S. M. C. batters off Kelly's delivery in the first inning of their game against the Knights of Columbus, resulted in five big runs; more than the Knights were able to overcome in the four innings remaining to play. Kelly tightened up after the initial session and held the team to one hit, that coming in the fourth inning, scoring the sixth run after a man had been hit by a pitched ball.

In their turn the Knights found McCrory for a couple of hits and three, coupled with three errors, resulted in two runs in the second and two more in the third. The game was captured 6 to 4, and was one that proved interesting to watch. For the Marines Cunningham was the only man to make a hit for extra bases, hitting one in the first for three. Mike Reardon, the first K. of C. batter to face McCrory, belted one out to left for a double. This ended the long hitting. The victory puts the Post team in second place, breaking the tie with the Morley Button Company.

The Game

1st inning.--Tharau singled with a sharp hit between short and third, but was forced at second on Scott's grounder. Sarrotta to Moore. Litwyler walked. McCrory grounded to Sarrotta who threw to Moore for a force out on Litwyler; Moore failing to touch the bag and three runners were safe. Hull dumped out in front of the plate and Kelly failed to recover the ball for a force out at the plate. Scott scoring. Cunningham hit to right for a triple, scoring Litwyler. McCrory and Hull. Reynolds hit past short, scoring Cunningham. McDonald singled to right. LeValley hit to Moore, forcing Reynolds at third on a throw to Sexton. Sexton's throw to Sarrotta nailing McDonald at second for a double play. FOUR HITS, TWO ERRORS, FIVE RUNS.

M. Reardon hit to left for two bases. O'Brien fled to Reynolds. Moore was tossed out at first by McCrory. Bennett going out the same way. ONE HIT, NO ERRORS, NO RUNS.

2d inning.--Tharau fled to O'Brien. Scott went out on a foul fly to Sexton. Litwyler was hit by the pitcher. McCrory fled to Sarrotta. NO HITS, NO ERRORS, NO RUNS.

Sexton singled with a pretty Texas Leaguer over second. Kelly hit one in the air which Reynolds lost. Kelly and Sexton advancing to second and third, respectively, on the error. Berry fanned. C. Reardon's attempt dropped in front of the plate and he was thrown out at first. Hull to Scott. Sexton scoring and Kelly going to third, later scoring on a passed ball. Sarrotta fanned. ONE HIT, TWO ERRORS, TWO RUNS.

3d inning.--Hull fanned. Cunningham out at first on a grounder to Sexton. Reynolds grounded out. Sarrotta to Berry. NO HITS, NO ERRORS, NO RUNS.

M. Reardon fanned. O'Brien walked. Moore singled to left. Bennett hit to Cunningham, forcing O'Brien at third. Moore and Bennett pulled a double, or five horses with carriages passed.

steal. Sexton hit to McDonald and was safe on his error in fumbling the ball after making the stop, allowing Moore to score on the throw to first. Scott dropped the throw and then threw wild to the plate, allowing Bennett to tally. Kelly was fanned. ONE HIT, TWO ERRORS, TWO RUNS.

4th inning.--McDonald was hit by a pitched ball, and stole second as LeValley fanned. Tharau singled to left. McDonald scoring from second. Tharau out stealing. Bennett to Moore. Scott fled to Kelly. ONE HIT, NO ERRORS, ONE RUN.

Berry was fanned. C. Reardon walked. Sarrotta fled to Reynolds. Reardon was caught napping off first. McCrory to Scott, for the third out. NO HITS, NO ERRORS, NO RUNS.

STATE CHAMPIONS TO SHOOT FOR THE NATIONAL TITLE

Every State Will be Represented by Its Best Trapshot in the Classic for Amateurs in St. Louis.

(By Peter P. Carney.)

The National Amateur Trapshooting championship title will be shot for over the traps of the St. Louis (Mo.) Sportsmen's Association on Tuesday afternoon, August 22.

This is the event of the season for the amateur trapshooters. The hope of every state is entered in it. The national championship for amateurs is shot for only by the state champions. Therefore, it is necessary to win a state championship before a trapshooter becomes qualified to shoot for the American title.

Every trapshooter in the state has the opportunity to shoot for his state title--and invariably the best trapshot wins. Hence 48 of the best amateur trapshooters in the United States will appear before the traps in St. Louis. The District of Columbia, New Mexico and Nevada are annexed to other states in shooting for the title, so that every state in the union will be represented.

This will be the third time that the national amateur title has been shot for, but in neither of the other two competitions were the field of shooters as good as the one this year. This will be the first time, too, that every state has been represented.

Woolfolk Henderson, of Lexington, Kentucky, and Charles Newcomb, of Philadelphia, Pa., won the amateur championships in 1911 and 1915, each breaking 99 targets. Neither will shoot for the title this year, as Henderson was beaten in the Kentucky tournament, getting second to Gay, and Newcomb finished third in the Pennsylvania event. "Doc" Richardson, who broke 95 targets in 1914 and 88 targets in 1915 in the national title event, met with a fatal injury a few days ago and could not participate in the Delaware championship, and the Peach Tree State will be represented by another this year.

The Interstate Association for the Encouragement of Trapshooting, which is to trapshooting what the national commission is to baseball, makes it possible for each state champion to attend, all owing each winner $75 towards expenses. This doesn't cover all expenses for some, but it greatly aids in cutting down the bills.

With the Delaware and Arkansas tournaments missing from the compilation--as these tournaments were not shot when this article was penned--the figures show that seven trapshooters made the perfect score of 100 in winning their titles, seven others made 99, 14 broke 98, 4 broke 97, one broke 95, 4 broke 95, 5 broke 94 and one 92 and 21. Every winner bettered 90 per cent, and only one of the runners-up got below 90 per cent. Six of the runners-up broke 95 targets, which will give an idea of the shooting in some of the states.

Firmans, of California-Nevada; Burmeister, of Illinois; Bell, of Pennsylvania; Bigelow, of Utah; King, of Colorado; Pendergast, of New York, and Ridley, of Iowa, are the trapshooters who go into the national championship event with a perfect score. Only two perfect scores were made in the state championships last year and one the year before.

President C. P. Wood of the Boston Chamber of Commerce has sent letter to New England senators and representatives in Washington, Indiana on the part of the Chamber, the Webb bill introduced into congress to permit combinations among the American exporters. The legislators are urged to help the immediate passage of the measure, but with an amendment by the Boston Chamber which would confine prohibition of "unfair methods of competition" to acts and methods within the territorial jurisdiction of the United States and only when such methods are used in competition between corporations. If so-called "unfair methods of competition" are prohibited outside the territorial jurisdiction of this country, the committee reports, American foreign trade will be greatly handicapped, as foreign countries allow and sanction such methods.

Harvard summer school boys are inclined to the belief that shirt hunters are as numerous as the skirt hunters. This is their answer to the youthful professor Mac Lette of Richmond, Va., that men are all petticoat chasers. Bill Lister of Kansas, one of the athletic coaches attended the school and had this to say about Miss Lette's charges: "Such a claim is all poppycock. Of course a flirt can quite often find fruitful territory for her wiles, but I would say that the only man a woman can flirt with would be a man of her own stamp. As far as I am concerned a man could twist her eye to the back of her head in a wink without bothering me."

Boston's floating hospital has completed ten years of active service. This means ten years of unflagging zeal in the care of the city's sick bodies, ten years of pure air and scientific care for the children of the poor. In commemoration of the anniversary two flags were run up to the masts. The Stars and Stripes and the Union made a brave showing as the white ship left its pier at North End pier, carrying seven more than the usual number of very sick babies.

Boston, Aug. 16--Send a local newspaper every day to some militiaman. This is the new slogan of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association and already reports come from the Mexican border that nothing could bring more pleasure to the militiamen. Ever since the militiamen arrived at the border they have complained of the scarcity of home news. They have hungered to know what the home folks are doing. The appeals for papers have been met in a hearty way until it came to the attention of the Volunteer Aid Association. Now a plan has been devised that is getting excellent results. If one of your family or some one you know is in the militia on the border, send them a local newspaper every day. The only expense involved is a cent each day for the newspaper.

CLAY WORKERS ADOPT NEW STRIKE METHOD

Brazil, Ind., August.--One thousand clay workers are conducting one of the most unusual strikes on record here. They allowed an injunction to be taken against them in a federal court preventing pickets from interfering with strike-breakers, or preventing them from using violence, saying they would not fight the injunction because they did not want to violate the law.

Instead of picketing the plants, the strikers marched past the plants quietly, bending banners, reading, "Come with us, we will protect you." Seven strike-breakers quit work after the parade. Governor Halston addressed the strikers at a meeting, complimenting them on the peaceful manner in which they are conducting the strike.

WAR DEPARTMENT HOLDS TROOPS FOR STRIKE DUTY

New Orders Issued Withholding 25,000 Recruits from Border Duty for Readiness in Case of R. R. Strike—Road Heads Agree in Part to an Eight-Hour Day

Washington, Aug. 15.—Because of the threatened railroad strike, the war department today suspended indefinitely the proposed movement to the border of between 25,000 and 35,000 mobilized militia in state camps last week, ordered to the Mexican line.

The reason for suspending the order is a possible shortage of supplies and difficulty of obtaining transportation for the men.

Until further orders are issued none of the organizations who are preparing to leave state camps will be sent to the border.

Funston's Suggestion

The order to keep the militiamen at their mobilization camps was issued on recommendation of Gen. Funston. Funston's message follows:

"In view of the possibility of a general railroad strike, I desire to call the attention of the war department to difficulties that will follow in maintaining food supply, not only of troops in this department, but of the civilian population as well. These border states produce but little foodstuffs except cattle. In view of the foregoing I recommend that national guard organizations which are about to start for border stations be retained in their mobilization camps until such time as the question of a general strike shall have been determined."

May Do Strike Duty

The suspension of the orders prevents the immediate movement of the troops from Kentucky, Ohio and Vermont and the movement of all other mobilized units which were to have gone forward as soon as they were equipped. Some of the Kentucky, Ohio and Vermont troops were about ready to go to the border.

It is clear that the suspension is not a revocation of the orders and that if the railroad strike situation clears up the troops will be moved to the border.

The official explanation of the change at the war department is that difficulties of transportation and equipment suddenly developed have made a delay necessary. It is known, however, that the railway situation is the real cause. It was considered highly undesirable that all the remaining guardsmen should be moved to the border while there was a possibility of a railroad strike in which they might be called upon to preserve order throughout some of the states.

There is even the possibility that some of the troops in the event of a strike might be called upon to guard or operate mail trains and trains supplying the troops already on the border.

Railroads Ready to Accept 8-Hour Terms, Balk on Overtime Demands.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The burden of concessions in bringing about an adjustment of the threatened railroad strike appeared to have swung around from the railroads to the employees today.

After the railroad managers had been in the White House for more than an hour and a half it was learned they have agreed to accept the basic principle of the eight-hour day, but they demand that the question of overtime pay be subjected to a bigger and more far-reaching investigation.

At the conclusion of the conference with the managers President Wilson authorized the following statement:

"The President spent an hour and a half this morning with the representatives of the railway managers. After the conference he said it was impossible as yet to report on the results; all that he could say was that a very candid and honest discussion was in progress about the practicable basis of settlement."

Their acceptance of the basic principle of the eight-hour day is made contingent upon agreement by the employees to further and more far-reaching discussion which would include the question of overtime pay.

Employers' Position

According to one of the railroad men who attended the conference the following is their position:

"We accept the principle of the eight-hour day. However, the eight-hour day question is so obviously and naturally a part of the overtime question that the two will have to be handled as one problem."

The conference of the managers ended at 10:30. They would make no comment upon leaving. It was announced the President would see the employees at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The investigation of the application of the shorter day principle to railway operation, as presented to the President, would be made through a board appointed by the President. It is understood, in accepting the basic principle of the eight-hour day the railroads go on the belief that neither the President nor the employees would expect the eight-hour day to be put into effect until the whole subject has been inquired into and a working program finally constructed.

Step Forward

In some respects it might be regarded as a step forward in the negotiations. The employees are not favorable to an out-and-out eight-hour day their work to end at the conclusion of that period. The question of whether they would yield on the point of delaying actual application of the new program with it has been subjected to thorough investigation remains to be seen.

The railroads countered with the suggestion outlined after working most of the night. At times, it is said, there was strong feeling among some of the managers that the President had attempted to place the burden of concession upon them.

He had, it is understood, told them in conference yesterday that the eight-hour principle was the one upon which they should try to work, and suggested they attempt to formulate the groundwork of a settlement on that basis.

Those close to the managers said investigation might reveal the fact that railroad systems might be operated on a nine-hour basis, or perhaps 10, and that at any rate the subject was one for thorough investigation and not arbitration.

A. H. Garretson, spokesman for the employees, smiled a bit when told of the managers' proposal, but refused to discuss whether or not it was satisfactory to the men.

"I have given the pledge of silence to the President, and therefore cannot say directly or indirectly whether the propositions are acceptable," he said. "As long as the matter is in the hands of the President I shall follow his lead."

Another representative of the employees was sarcastic regarding the managers' proposals.

"That will be very nice," he said, "but there is nothing new about that idea. I have known about that for a week. They were talking that proposition before we ever came down here. Garretson and his associates appeared to take the managers' idea lightly. The men say there is no reason to change their attitude thus far."

Heated by their spokesman, Ellisha Lee, the committee of railroad managers filed into the White House at 9 o'clock. Lee carried a small portfolio. He refused to state whether he had the proposition on which the roads are willing to arbitrate their differences with the employees.

"I can say absolutely nothing at this time," he said.

Spend Night Considering Terms

All of the delegation looked somewhat weary, as a result of a conference of their own which lasted until an early hour this morning and during which they were understood to be endeavoring to agree on some proposition for a settlement to submit to the President today.

Throughout most of the night the managers labored over a definite suggestion for settlement to be offered today. The employees did the same. The President yesterday after hearing both sides, urged this method of procedure, asking each party to reduce its contentions to the "irreducible minimum" in order to bring the issue more quickly to a focus.

Beyond this the conferences developed nothing definite beyond a strong indication that both sides are now more willing to co-operate to bring peace than they were before talking with the President. Neither side indicated to the President any intention of yielding a point, however, and what developed during the night conferences of the employees and managers was kept absolutely secret.

Contingent Proposals the Issue

When the President resumed the hearings today the original question—what shall be arbitrated and what form shall the arbitration take?—was the foremost problem under consideration.

The principal difficulty lies in doubt as to whether either side will yield on the "contingent proposals" of the railroads which the managers claim should be considered along with the eight-hour question in any form of arbitration. The men claim these proposals involve rights they already have won and demand they be left out of consideration at this time.

NEW YORK LETTER
(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

RAILWAY STRIKE MENACES.—All New York is anxious regarding the railroad strike which threatens to tie up the entire country. This city is particularly isolated and, with its vast population, would be immediately menaced by a food famine were its normal supply, shipped in daily, to be cut off.

There is no city in the world which lives from hand to mouth as does New York, so that anxiety regarding the threatened strike is peculiarly personal, aside from the terrible injury to business conducted and represented here. President Wilson took a spectacular step when, after having received assurances that the railway employees would not order a strike until they had conferred with him, he dispatched his secretary, Joe Tumulty, to New York, to ask them to do so, widely heralding his departure from Washington and arranging to have Tumulty met by a host of newspapermen on his arrival in New York, where he gave out Mr. Wilson's letter to the heads of the unions and the railways. The unexpected ordering of an additional 25,000 militiamen to the Mexican border has created an unfortunate suspicion among the railway workers. Many of them, in the absence of any good reason for this order, believe that it was specifically designed to afford the President an excuse for enjoining the railway employees on the ground that their strike was interfering with the military operations of the government. Inasmuch as conciliation is the chief requisite to any success which Mr. Wilson may have in the role of mediator, it generally is regretted that he should have done anything which so greatly arouses the antagonism of the railway men on the eve of his effort to settle the difficulty.

HUGHES UNSATISFACTORY.—Mr. Hughes is proving highly unsatisfactory to the Democrats, on his western tour. Charles Murphy, head of Tammany Hall, has given an interview denouncing Mr. Hughes as lacking constructive ability and Secretary McAdoo accuses the Republican candidate of the crime of "pettifoggery." For some strange reason the Republican managers accept these criticisms of their hero with extraordinary complacency. They maintain, in fact, that the sudden decision of President Wilson, after having announced that he would not take the stump, to make a western tour and go over the same ground as Mr. Hughes is evidence that the Republican candidate has put the Democratic nominee very much on the defensive. The Republicans insist that Mr. Wilson received thousands of votes from people who believed him to be a peculiarly high-minded man and who had accepted his repeated commendation of civil service reform as sincere and that these are bound to be alienated by the evidence Mr. Hughes is presenting of flagrant violations, by Mr. Wilson's personal direction, of both the spirit and the letter of civil service reform.

HUGHES RECORD HELPS.—When Mr. Hughes said at Fargo, "I'd like to

CLEVELAND SAVING DAYLIGHT FOR THE PAST TWO YEARS

Cleveland, O., Aug. 15.—Announcement made in a recent New York despatch received here, that the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the state of New York and the Merchants Association of that city were interesting themselves in a project to turn the hands of the New York clocks forward an hour, between April 1 and Sept. 30, and then reverse them again in an effort to get a daylight plan for that city for part of the year and go back to an hour or more darkness for the other part, caused surprise among Cleveland people, who have been enjoying the benefits of an hour extra daylight all the year around, for two years past.

None of Cleveland's 750,000 people would now consent for a moment to reverse the hands of their clocks or watches even in the darkest days of winter, having enjoyed the extra hour of daylight since the passage of the ordinance making "Eastern Standard Time" the legal time for municipal offices and legal or official proceedings of the city of Cleveland on May 1, 1914.

This result was brought about through the activity of the committee on eastern time of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, of which Samuel H. Halle, a Cleveland merchant, was and still is chairman.

All the arguments that are now being directed against the adoption of this project by other cities were faced two years ago by the Cleveland chamber's committee. The protest that it would be too dark in winter to arise an hour earlier than the then existing Central time was made with persistence by persons who forgot that even in winter there were advantages in getting away from work and home an hour earlier than had been their custom.

The Cleveland Federation of Labor, the Cleveland Amateur Football Association, the Cleveland Amateur Baseball Association and the lovers of outdoor sports of every kind at once got behind the chamber committee and have been the happy recipients of many of the benefits derived from the new arrangement.

The other argument about the confusion in separate time, especially in a city traversed by eastern and western trunk line railroads, which were carrying their own arbitrarily arranged time-tables, was used with force, but as a matter of fact New Yorkers and others who come to Cleveland let their watches remain on New York time while in Cleveland and simply have to make an hour's mental calculation to meet the railroad's demands.

The ordinance, which merely provides that "The standard of time throughout the city of Cleveland shall be that of the seventy-fifth meridian of longitude west from Greenwich, known as Eastern Standard time, and that the clocks or other time pieces on Cleveland public buildings should be set and run according to that time" went into effect at 12 o'clock at midnight preceding May 1, 1914. On that night some 670,000 Clevelanders turned the hands of their clocks an hour ahead and have never since thought of turning them backward. The majority of Cleveland stores open at 8 o'clock and close at 5:30 o'clock and changing to Eastern time made them close an hour to an hour and a half before the setting of the sun on the day of least daylight. By the adoption of Eastern Standard time an attendant decrease of 131 hours of darkness in the city of Cleveland was attained.

By the adoption of Eastern Standard time, Clevelanders were given 231 hours of additional daylight during the year. That time has been devoted to many forms of outdoor recreations: 278 days and over 75 per cent of the year being accorded daylight after 6:30 o'clock in the morning. When the Cleveland baseball club is at home, the evening papers containing the results of the game are issued an hour ahead of previous time, thus giving the readers an extra hour of daylight in which to read, while the advantages to the distribution of afternoon papers by this plan have been recorded as of great economic saving both to the papers and the readers.

The benefits which Clevelanders have derived by the setting ahead of their clocks include: Additional hours of recreation for the toiler, a benefit to the welfare of children, an advantage to suburban residents and nearby farmers, more daylight for the return of workers to their homes, more efficient work in industrial plants, closer mail, telegraph, telephone, freight, and express connections with the east, saving in the cost of artificial illumination and a general step toward ideal time conditions.

The committee on eastern time is still retained by the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, not because there is any thought in Cleveland of returning to former conditions but because other western cities are watching the movement with interest, and the committee, having already conferred benefits upon Detroit and some Canadian cities, hopes are long to bring Chicago under its influence.

have authority to investigate this administration for six months," everybody cheered. Why? Because Mr. Hughes reputation as an efficient and merciless investigator had gone before him. His audience remembered the thorough and merciless investigation to which he subjected the insurance companies and they recalled, too, that it made not the slightest difference to him whether it was corrupt contributions to the Republican or to the Democratic campaign funds that he was exposing. People who have been paying special taxes, stamp taxes, income taxes, etc., for the last three years, with the prospect of paying more when the pending revenue bill is passed, would like a Hughes investigation, not only of the present administration but of all previous administrations, that there may be some check on the gross extravagance of public expenditures, the criminal waste of the people's money.

DEMOCRATS JUBILANT.—There is jubilation at Democratic National headquarters because Charles Murphy and Tammany have announced that they will cordially support Samuel Seabury, the Democratic nominee for Governor of New York. Judge Seabury is a single taxer which, in the opinion of his friend Chas. O'C. Hennessy, will ultimately make him President of the United States. Tammany engineered the nomination of Wm. F. McCombs for United States Senator, so that with its acceptance of Judge Seabury, its support will be unanimous and probably enthusiastic for the Democratic ticket. Charles Murphy does not particularly like Seabury, but would infinitely prefer him to Gov. Whitman, the Republican candidate, and having been given the Senatorial nomination, there is no reason for Murphy and his cohorts to complain because in picking a candidate for governor the convention did not take an essentially Tammany man. After all, Tammany is a practical organization which knows well how to play the political game and to win over Democratic candidates even when it has not named them. However, the fact that both Seabury and McCombs enjoy Tammany support is an occasion of rejoicing to the Democratic leaders.

"DESERVING DEMOCRATS."—A "deserving Democrat" according to a cynic's Democratic critic (who probably failed to come through), is one who contributed according to his means to the Wilson campaign fund. He points out, at any rate, that those who did contribute liberally landed good government jobs, notably in the diplomatic service. He complains, however, that it takes a far larger contribution from a northerner than from a southerner to land a good place at the pie-counter. For instance, it cost General Penfield, Charles Crane, Morganthau, McCombs and Jones an average of $24,500 each for good jobs, whereas, the Southern rate is only $350, as evidenced by the fact that that was the average contribution of Daniels, Burleson, Gregory and McReynolds, all in the cabinet. In this connection it is also maintained that while most of the taxes collected by this administration have come from the north, the lion's share of the expenditures have been made in the south. The bulk of the $42,000,000 "pork barrel" goes to the South, in addition to $21,000,000 for a nitrate plant, big sums for navy yards many of which are obsolete, $30,000,000 for river improvement and flood control, etc.

VICE RAMPANT.—That vice has again become rampant during the administration of John P. Mitchell, Democratic Mayor of New York, is disclosed by the white slave investigation now in progress. It has been developed that within a few years over 3,000 school girls have been lured away from home and delivered to lives of infamy by an organized gang. The bathing-beaches, moving picture theatres and dance halls have been the chief recruiting places of the "Vice Trust." This infamous trust, operating under the protection of the police, actually maintained a number of moving picture houses itself for the sole purpose of luring young girls into the snares of its operatives. Free admission to "the movies," the first bait offered, was greedily accepted. Candy and soda water followed and soon the children so tempted were completely within the power of their seducers who then shipped them away from New York to be trained in vice, bringing them back only when their parents had ceased to search for them. Mayor Mitchell says he will not run again.

Regimental Reunions.

Pleasant reading are the announcements and accounts of regimental reunions of veterans of the Civil war, which are of frequent occurrence in all parts of the country at this time of the year. It is the custom of the remnants of the forces that fought for the preservation of the Union from '61 to '65 to get together once a year to shake hands, renew the ties of comradeship and talk over their experiences in one of the great wars of history.

More than half a century elapsed since the close of the memorable struggle in which these men took part, the number of those able to participate in these gatherings is small and rapidly growing smaller. They know, and everybody knows, that within a few years the last member of that valiant army will have answered the final roll-call and the Grand Army of the Republic will be but a memory. But it will be a precious memory and its work will not be forgotten by succeeding generations.

A regimental reunion is always a day of interest in the community in which it is held. Aged are all and infirm are many of the veterans as they come together for another handshake and brief period of such comradeship as can be known only by those who have marched side by side and fought shoulder to shoulder. For these reasons the citizens of the towns in which these reunions are held are always interested and ready to do everything in their power to assist in making the occasions all they should be.

In a few more years the last veteran of the war of the Rebellion will be gone, but what was done by these brave men will never be forgotten by a grateful country. The struggle in which they took part, while not so vast as that now in progress in the Old World, was quite as earnest and called for sacrifices no less heroic. The men who wore the blue fought for a great and eternal principle, the justice of which is now recognized by those who fought against them in the firm conviction that they also were right. To have lived to see the day when the righteousness of their cause is universally admitted is one of the great rewards of the remnants of the armies that followed the stars and stripes through the struggle that resulted in freedom for every human being beneath its folds.

These old soldiers have a warm place in the hearts of the people, and interest in their gatherings is natural and creditable. The "freedom of the city," wherever they choose to meet, will always be theirs so long as there are any of them left to get together.

The faith of at least one New England clergyman appears to have been shaken by present world conditions. He is reported in the course of a recent sermon to have asked: "If the Father's power is almighty why does he permit this catastrophe? If He is unable to prevent it, where is His power?" It is probable that this thought has occurred to many lay minds, though such an expression from the pulpit is very unusual.

The Daughters of the American Revolution want the government to purchase Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, and President Wilson has become interested in the project. This is all right as a matter of sentiment, yet there are those who would object to anything resembling Danish Island prices.

Candidate Hughes has been initiated into the order of "Baseball Fans," but in politics he is a good deal more than a fan. He is at the bat and wielding the stick with all the vigor at his command. But the other fellows will have their innings one of these days, and then the game will be worth watching.

According to reports from London, British workmen are in favor of hanging the Kaiser. Which reminds one of the famous recipe for cooking a rabbit, the first sentence being, "First catch your rabbit."

No cool wave was ever more welcome than that which came after the long period of steaming. The relief had been earned and was appreciated by every living creature, human and dumb.

A man who expects to live to the age of 100 years tells how he is living in order to prolong his days. But his rules will be heeded by few. No sensible man wants to live 100 years.

Late reports from the Mexican front indicate that the drought which prevailed when the National Guardsmen arrived has been effectually broken.

INTERESTING EVENTS AT APPLECREST

Field Meetings by Three Pomonas at Hampton Falls.

Walter B. Farmer acted as host to two thousand grangers of Rockingham county at his celebrated "Applecrest" farm at Hampton Falls Tuesday, the occasion being the field meeting of the East and West Rockingham and the Governor Bacheelder Pomona granges of Rockingham county the three organizations including all the granges in the county.

In addition to being a field day meeting and outing it was an event of much interest to farmers generally, as Mr. Farmer himself, as president of the Rockingham County Farmers' association, and Roger D. Long, the county agent, was also present and with assistants from the state college at Durham gave practical demonstrations.

The meeting today was in a measure a substitute for the Farmers' day and field meeting of the state board of agriculture, which for years has been held at Hampton Beach, and this year for the first time in a long span of years, was omitted.

Today's gathering was under the auspices of the state grange and arrangements were completed by the master, Wesley Adams of Londonderry. Mr. Farmer's spacious farm was probably visited by representatives from every town in the county, there being a steady inflow of automobiles and other conveyances throughout the morning.

In the field and orchard work, Roger D. Long, the county agent, Prof. Gourley of the state college, and C. L. Long of the extension department gave demonstrations with his new tractor engine in plowing on some of the roughest land on his farm and also gave an exhibition in some of the work of ditching, subsoiling and houghing and stump blowing by the use of dynamite.

On the poultry plant the demonstrations were by A. V. Mitchell of the state college and Professor Graham of the Agricultural college at Amherst, Mass. They gave talks on the feeding and care of flocks.

Mr. Farmer's poultry plant is probably one of the largest in New England and the demonstrations were of much interest to the hundreds of farmers. Among the guests was W. W. Pillsbury who a few weeks ago had an orchard demonstration at his Londonderry farm.

With the completion of the practical part of the day's program, the guests were tendered a genuine old fashioned clam bake, prepared by Mr. Simpson of Dover Point.

Following this came the literary program which included addresses by Wesley Adams, master of the state grange, E. E. Chapman of the department of agriculture and lecturer of the national grange and others prominent in grange and agriculture. Mrs. Farmer gave select readings and an orchestra furnished music during the afternoon.

"Applecrest Farm" is probably the most widely known of any in this section, and the proprietor, Mr. Farmer, has been engaged in scientific farming and poultry raising for several years. He came from Brookline, Mass., to carry on the work in New Hampshire. His dynamiting for plowing and ditching have for several years been of interest to the farmers throughout the county and his poultry plant is probably unequalled in the state.

Guests today were shown all parts of the farm, and ideal summer weather favored the work. It was probably the largest gathering of the kind ever held in the state.

TELEGRAPHERS OF BOSTON & MAINE CALL IN PIERSON

Thomas M. Pierson of Albany, N. Y., international vice president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers has arrived in Boston and will endeavor to bring about an adjustment of the telegraphers' trouble, existing on the Boston and Maine. The committee was unable to reach an agreement with the officials of the road and so Pierson was summoned. On his arrival there he at once got into communication with General Manager Patrick of the company, who agreed to grant him a hearing within a day or two, or just as soon as General Superintendent Tyler, who is recovering from a recent operation, is able to report for duty.

The number of telegraphers employed on the Boston and Maine system is more than 1200. Since May 1 they have been conferring with the officials in an effort to obtain a desired increase in wages of about 10 per cent and ten hour day, instead of the present day of 12 hours. The matter has been deadlocked for the past few weeks.

CURRENT OPINION

Our Navy Should Be as Powerful as That of Any in the World.

Our great need is a good navy, second to that of no other nation in the world. In these days of "secret alliances" and readjustments it is not safe to figure on the friendship of any nation. The present war has proved this beyond all question, and it is well to bear in mind that if we are to have a navy it ought to be as large at least as that of the greatest naval power instead of as large as that of the second or third naval power.

Two smaller navies in conjunction under an alliance may be quite as large as the largest. The position of American commerce today and its absolute dependence on the will of Great Britain owing to her navy should teach us our absolute helplessness, so far as international trade and commerce are concerned, unless we are able to cope with and are as strong as any power that might seek to dictate to us. Anything less than this would be of no avail and not worth starting on.—By Herman A. Metz, Former Congressman From New York.

Shortage of Mechanics

With an unprecedented building program facing them, navy yard officials are concerned over the shortage of trained mechanics available for carrying out such of the new work as may be sent to government yards. Shipbuilding trades have been unable to supply enough men for construction now in progress, and officials believe there will be considerable delay both in public and private yards due to this fact.

The keels of the battleships California and Tennessee still are to be laid although contracts for their construction were awarded to the Mare Island and Brooklyn navy yards, respectively, many months ago. Work on the California is expected to begin early next month.

At the Brooklyn yard the department had planned to put double shifts to work on the New Mexico so as to get her into the water and clear the ways for the Tennessee, but because of the shortage of skilled labor it has been with great difficulty that a single full shift has been maintained. To meet the emergency the navy yards have been compelled to take inexperienced men in large numbers and train them for their work. The best of the former construction crews have gone to private plants.

Marines Win Out

Marines from the battleship Florida won the Dunlap cup at Newport on Tuesday in the annual race of 12-oared cutters over a two mile course. The race is part of the efficiency tests of the Atlantic fleet. Fourteen cutters were entered.

BIG ILLUMINATED PARADE ON RIVER

Yacht Club Plans for Display on August 23.

The illuminated motor boat parade under the auspices of the Portsmouth Yacht club will be held on Wednesday evening, Aug. 23. A first and second prize will be offered for the best decorated boats and every boat is requested to enter if possible. There will be no entrance fee and the parade will start at 7.45 or thereabout. The club will spend no time or expense on the arrangements for this river display and should be encouraged in every way by the people, especially boat owners in and out of the club.

A boat review will also take place on Sunday, Sept. 1, forming at Juneau's wharf and will move down to Fort Point and back. Every boat owner is requested to join.

REFERRED TO CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

Plans for the Navy Yard Are in Balance at Present.

The senate amendment to the naval appropriation bill to which the house committee disagreed, will again be referred to conference. The following are appropriations that are causing the disagreement: Six million dollars for equipment of the Puget Sound, Philadelphia, Norfolk, Boston, Portsmouth, Charleston and New Orleans navy yards for construction of war ships, with immediate equipment of the Puget Sound, Philadelphia, Boston and Norfolk yards to build capital ships; $1,250,000 additional for improvement at the Charleston navy yard, including a drydock to cost $1,085,000; $300,000 to enlarge facilities of the Portsmouth navy yard; $100,000 for a new wharf at the New Orleans navy yard, and $500,000 for "investigation" of submarine and aviation bases and plans for defense of harbors and canals.

STATE SENATOR WASHBURN WEDS AT YORK HARBOR

The marriage of Senator Robert M. Washburn of Worcester, Mass., and Miss Martha Ross Clark, daughter of the late James E. Clark of Baltimore, a prominent flour manufacturer, took place at Trinity church at York Harbor on Tuesday at 4.30 in the afternoon. The ceremony was performed by the Rt. Rev. Samuel C. Edsall, bishop of Minnesota, and was witnessed by only the immediate families of the contracting parties.

The bride was attractively attired in a traveling gown of blue crepe de chene. She was given in marriage by her sister, Mrs. Laura D. Clark of Baltimore who was the matron of honor. The best man was the Rev. Arthur L. Washburn of Providence, brother of the groom. Miss Anita Penhox of Portland, Oregon, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Immediately following the ceremony, Senator and Mrs. Washburn left on a trip to points in eastern Maine and on their conclusion they will reside in Worcester. Miss Elizabeth Clark of Baltimore, Prof. Ivah Lester Winter of Harvard University and Mrs. Winter were the others who witnessed the ceremony.

A special permit had to be made to Bishop Edsall, as under the Maine marriage law a clergyman must be licensed by the state to solemnize marriages.

BRIDE HESITATED AT LAST HOUR

Visits One Clergyman Twice and Is Finally Married by Another.

It took Dan Cupid some time to put on the finishing touches to one of his victims when Willis W. Hadden of Newburyport and Miss May Richardson of Haverhill, Mass., came to this city to be married. The couple gave the required five days' notice and had arranged to have the ceremony performed by an Episcopal clergyman. The hour arrived when they were to join hands for life and the priest stood to the home of the minister. To the surprise of the prospective groom and wedding clergyman, the bride-to-be hesitated at the door and declined to enter and be a partner in wedlock.

The couple departed and after a three hour conference returned to the same clergyman. Again the appeal was repeated and no appeal on the part of her anxious lover could get her to consent to listen to the words of the clergyman which would change her name from Miss to Mrs. They departed again and did not return.

The marriage record shown they were finally married by Rev. Alfred Gooding of the Unitarian church. She gave no excuse for her hesitation and the delay in the ringing of the wedding bells and the story remains a secret with both bride and groom.

SHOT HIMSELF WITH REVOLVER

Percy Small of York Beach, Rejected by His Lady Love, Attempts Suicide.

Percy Small of York Beach attempted to commit suicide Monday evening in the rear of the Fairmount hotel by shooting himself with a 38-calibre bull dog revolver.

Small has been keeping company with a young lady who lives in Ogunquit for the past two months, and on Monday afternoon he went to call on her. But it seems that since she has come to work at the hotel, she has accepted the attentions of another young man and when Small called as usual she refused to talk with him and told him not to call again.

Broken hearted the young man boarded a Portsmouth car and left the beach. When he arrived in this city it is alleged he took a few drinks of whiskey after which he returned to the beach.

On his return, he went to see the young lady, this time under the influence of liquor. It is said, She again refused to see him and told him to keep away from her in the future. Soon after the second refusal a shot was heard in the rear of the Fairmount hotel and two men nearby hastened in the direction of the shot.

They found Small lying in a clump of bushes groaning and saying "he had done it." Seeing that the wounded man was in a critical condition they hurried him to the office of Dr. Geo. H. Packard, a Manchester physician. There it was found that the shot had entered Small's arm just below the elbow and had lodged in the palm of his hand. Dr. Packard was considerably hindered in his work on account of the weak condition of the patient, due to the loss of blood. However, after an hour's work, the physician found the bullet and extracted it.

After Small had recovered from his semi-conscious state he expressed his regret for his act but stoutly maintained that his lady love would have to marry him, for he could not live without her.

Small was taken to his home in the doctor's automobile after his wounds had been dressed and bandaged. Dr. Packard expressed fear that blood poisoning or lock-jaw, might develop from the young man's escapade.

HORTON SERVICE

Announcement of New Cars Also Additional Lines.

The Horton Service Station announces the arrival of another carload of Studebakers, including one of the much talked about Sedans. This will be the talk of the city. In addition to the above announcement is here made that a Paige "17" six-cylinder touring car will be at the Sinclair Garage Saturday of this week for inspection. It will also have a Saxon Six for inspection at an early date. These two lines have been secured in order to give patrons of the Horton Service a cheaper priced car when one is desired. There have been times in the past when Mr. Horton has been unable to secure all the Studebaker cars he desired for his trade and the above additions will enable him to be always prepared to supply a car of well known standing as to price and equipment. The new lines will be supplied in all sizes.

HEAT TREATMENT IMPORTANT IN AUTOMOBILE MAKING

Dodge Brothers Plant Has Wonderful System of Testing Metals.

A prominent scientist, in a paper dealing with steel used in the manufacture of motor cars, made the following statement recently:

"The heat-treatment of steel in a way is the most important operation to which it is subjected. There can be no unimportant details. It is essential that the work be done by skillful men, supplied with accurate pyrometers and well designed and constructed furnaces capable of maintaining a uniform heat and of being properly regulated."

Electric furnaces are used because electricity, more so than other fuels, may be regulated to a final point of exactness. The heat is confined within a drum or shell, heavily insulated. The pyrometer attachment will record as high as 1800 degrees Fahrenheit. After it is heated, the steel is cooled, either fast or slow, in one of the numerous different solutions standing nearby.

Every step of the long and careful process is a step in the direction of the exceptional durability that has given the Dodge Brothers motor car its high standing among motor car buyers.

Every different kind of steel, for every different part of the car, must be put through the research test to determine what degree of heat is best adapted to its quality and to its function in service. To determine that degree, hundreds of samples of specimens of steel are heated at different temperatures in small electric furnaces. The results of tests on these specimens, as made by various types of special instruments, are used in determining the exact treatment to be used in regular production. For instance, one of the first tests which a piece of steel undergoes after emerging from the electric furnace, is the Brinell test for hardness.

CROSS ZLOTA LIPA IN 12-MILE ADVANCE

Forces Approaching Halicz Seriously Threaten Bottomer's Right Flank.--Armies Gathering to Defend Lemberg.

Petrograd, Aug. 15.—The Russians have placed the new Austro-German line on the Zlota Lipa river at a new point, having crossed to the west bank of the river in a 12-mile advance from the upper Stripa. It was officially announced today.

Other Russian forces have crossed to the western bank of the Zlota Lipa, southwest of Stanislau.

The Austro-Germans are making desperate efforts to throw the Czar's troops back to the east bank.

In the south, the Russians approach the Halicz and seriously threaten Gen. Bottomer's right flank and rear. Unless the Russian advance is speedily checked the Austro-Germans must continue their retreat until they reach the Gafra Lipa, a retirement of nearly 25 miles on a wide front.

The Austrians have almost entirely ceased their attacks. In the extreme southeast, near the Carpathians, according to advices from the front today, ten days ago the arrival of strong bodies of Austrian and German reinforcements was followed by heavy attacks that caused the Russian line to retire slightly. It is now believed that these reinforcements have been withdrawn and are being hurried to the defence of Lemberg by a roundabout rail route south of the Carpathians.

The Russians are now drawing in upon Lemberg on a cutting 150-mile front. At the nearest point, southwest of Lirady, they are about 45 miles from the Galician capital. The capture of Zborov, officially announced last night, places another detachment within 50 miles of Lemberg.

Austrian Airman Keep up Attacks on the Isanzo.

Berlin, by wireless to Sayville, Aug. 15.—Austrian airmen are keeping up their active bombardment of Italian positions at the mouth of the Isanzo and in the neighboring territory. An admiralty statement from Vienna today says:

"Austro-Hungarian naval aeroplanes on the night of Aug. 12 bombarded most effectively hostile batteries at the mouth of the Isanzo, the aeroplane station at Borea, and aerial plants near Montefiore. The aeroplanes returned undamaged in spite of the most violent shelling."

French Take Trenches Near the Sainte Fine Chapel.

Paris, Aug. 15.—A French grenade attack on the northeastern front of Verdun last night resulted in the capture of German trenches on a 300-yard front to a depth of 100 yards. It was officially announced today. The gain was made in the vicinity of Sainte Fine Chapel, at the intersection of the Fleury and Vaux roads.

German counter attacks in this region were immediately checked. The Germans bombarded French positions at Fleury and on the Vaux-Chapelle section.

A German detachment last night penetrated a French salient northwest of Beaulieu, in the region north of the Alsne after an intense bombardment. They were later expelled by a French counter attack.

French artillery was very active on the Somme front last night, but no important infantry engagements occurred.

More Austrian Trenches and Prisoners Captured.

Rome, Aug. 15.—Several sections of Austrian trenches have been captured by the Italians in sharp fighting west of San Grado and Mount Pedinola. It was officially announced today. In these operations 1150 prisoners were taken.

East of Gorizia heavy fighting is going on before Austrian entrenchments. In these encounters 223 prisoners were taken.

The Austrians made unsuccessful demonstrations for the purpose of diverting Italian troops in the region of Mount Pinta, Forame, Colombrina, Monte Cimone, Sluggio and Casubio. Austrians Claim Progress in Carpathian Campaign.

Berlin, wireless to Sayville, Aug. 15.—The progress of operations along the eastern front and in the Italian war theatre is reported in the Austrian official statement of Aug. 12, received here from Vienna, as follows:

"Russian war theatre, front of Arch duke Charles Francis: The attack by German and Austro-Hungarian troops in the Carpathians is progressing successfully. Yesterday 700 Russians were captured and three machine guns taken southeast of Vorochla. Russian attempts to counter attack were completely repulsed. Otherwise along this front there was fighting of the liveliest character only along the lower Zlota Lipa and south of Zalozze (south of Brody)."

"Front of Field Marshal von Hindenburg: Col. Gen. von Boehm-Ermoldt repulsed, west of Zalozze, several strong attacks. At Kaszowka (on the Sankhod) a hostile advance position was surprised and 170 prisoners and three machine guns were brought in. South of Stobryha Russian attempts to cross again broke down."

"Italian war theatre: In the district between the sea and the Viharec valley several Italian attempts to approach our strong positions were frustrated by our fire. On the heights east of Gorizia our troops repulsed a strong attack and took prisoner 10 officers and 140 men. Monte San Gabriele and Monte Santo were violently shelled by hostile artillery."

"On the Tyrolean front a minor enterprise resulted in the bringing in of 52 prisoners, among whom were five officers and one machine gun."

London, Aug. 15.—Nearly all of the remaining trenches northwest of Pozieres, on the Somme front, in which the Germans gained a footing on Sunday, have been retaken, the war office announced today.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The threatened railroad strike is as much more serious than previous labor troubles in the United States as the present great war dwarfs the other national struggle of history.

It will not only stifle our industrial life but it will cause widespread suffering.

Every town will taste some of the horrors of a siege. Few places have food for more than a week's consumption. Some things will run out sooner than that. Great cities will feel the lack of milk within twenty-four hours of the time a tieup is inaugurated and unless supplied by motor car or wagon, the babies will soon be starving in vast numbers.

For the U. S. army of about 150,000 men now encamped on the border or in Mexico the situation is scarcely less ominous. The soldiers have no stores of food with them. They depend on a regular daily supply by train. If the trains stop running they will receive no new provisions nor will their commanders be able to move them to places where the great quantities of food needed are provided.

In New York cities alone there are almost a million babies who will die if a daily supply of milk is cut off. The railroads maintain that to grant the men's demands would not only entail an expense of $100,000,000 a year, but would be the forerunner of more demands. They are ready for a test of strength with the men, if President Wilson does not find the way out.

In 1911 when the European war suddenly began and when the Western railroad strike was threatened the railroads withdrew their demands to arbitrate only the workers' demands. This time the managers refuse such a concession.

The last national railroad strike in this country occurred in 1894 when the National Railway Union, of which Eugene V. Debs was president, conducted a more or less a parade strike, which at times caused scenes of great violence in the Middle West. President Cleveland used the regular army under Major General Nelson A. Miles to deal with the situation.

Scores of strikers were shot in the streets of Chicago and hundreds of cars burned by the strikers. Injunctions were issued by the court and defied by the strikers. The President issued several solemn proclamations against rioting and participation in the strike. Finally the strike failed through the ability of the railroads' with soldiers on every engine and car to maintain a crippled service.

The workers at that time were not as well organized as now, nor the movement as concerted as that of 1916. Only a small proportion of the workers were members of the National Railway Union, as compared with the highly organized character of the four big railway brotherhoods today making demands on the railroads.

In 1914 the Western territory members of the four brotherhoods clashed with the National Conference Committee of the Railways, which now represents the transportation companies. Mediation was tried, but failed and President Wilson summoned leaders of both sides to Washington. It was the day after Germany had declared war on Russia on Aug. 1, 1914, that the President appealed to the factions to make peace in view of the world-wide crisis then. The railroads' reply was that they did not wish to imperil the welfare of the nation in a crisis and would consent to withdraw their demands if the workers would arbitrate theirs. This arbitration was affected. The brotherhoods were dissatisfied with the results and upon that dissatisfaction largely based their aversion to arbitration now.

MANY BATTLES FOUGHT IN HOTELS OF ALPS

Berlin, Aug. 15.—The Swiss summer and mountain resorts are not deserted in spite of the war. Some of them do a fairly good business. The Englishmen, Frenchmen, Germans, Austrians and few Italians, together with a number of Scandinavians and a sprinkling of representatives of all other countries have managed to come to the Alps to spend their vacations, but their number, is, of course, much smaller than in the time of peace.

To maintain a state of peace among their guests is a hard job for the strictly neutral proprietors of the different hotels. Although they are taking all kinds of precautions, it is almost impossible for them to prevent rows. In some of the hotels large signs have been posted repeating the guests not to talk about the war, while in others the different nationalities are separated as much as possible.

At meals, the French, English and Italians and the neutrals have their own tables, but this does not prevent numerous clashes. Even the so-called neutrals quarrel among themselves, because their sympathies are either with the Entente or the Central Powers.

The proprietor of one large hotel had buttons made with the inscription: "Don't talk war to me," but the majority of his guests refused to wear them and the few who did soon threw them away because they found themselves isolated. Nobody would talk to them at all.

The most heated verbal battles are always fought by the French Swiss and the German Swiss. The Germans and the English seldom clash; they simply ignore each other.

PEABODY WOMAN COMMITTS SUICIDE.

Peabody, Aug. 15.—Mrs. Anne Keyser, 55 years old, committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas at her home, 31 Jacobs street, late yesterday. She was found dead on the floor of the kitchen, her head on a pillow and a pipe in her mouth, the other end attached to an open jet in the gas range. When her husband Charles C. Keyser, returned home from work he found the door of the house locked. He broke in and found his wife's body. She had been dead some time. She had been suffering from a nervous disorder and is believed to have ended her life wholly despondent.

Honestly, our welding service saves money and time for everyone that should have a metal part of anything broken. Welding isn't "sticking" the broken pieces together—it is the fusing of the two pieces into a strong whole that is really stronger than it was before the break. Dear in mind, when anything breaks that's made of metal from the heavy machine casting to a small stove door, see us and same time and money.

WALKS ON HIS BARE TOOTSIES

CHELSEA, MASS., MAN, WHO HAS HIKED ALL OVER THE COUNTRY BAREFOOTED, CALLED HERE LAST EVENING EN ROUTE FROM BOSTON TO PORTLAND.

Eugene B. Willard, who is known as "Barefoot Gene," registered at the Chronicle office on Tuesday evening, en route from Boston to Portland, reaching this office at 6:30 o'clock. Willard left Boston at 7:00 o'clock on Monday morning, walking over the road, as far as Portsmouth without shoes or stockings, and he expects to reach his destination on Wednesday evening.

Willard's home is in Chelsea, Mass., and he enjoys the unique distinction of being the champion barefoot walker in the eastern states, having visited nearly every city in New England, always travelling over the roads, and barefooted. The present summer he has made a number of barefooted hikes and among the cities visited are Worcester, Lowell, Brockton, Mass., Manchester, N. H., and Providence, R. I. Early in the season he had intended hiking to El Paso, Tex., leaving early this month but he has decided to postpone this trip for another year.

On his present walk Willard started Monday morning from Boston at 7:00 o'clock and reached Haverhill, Mass., at 6:48 p. m., registering at the Haverhill News office. From Haverhill he went to Newburyport and left the latter city for Portsmouth at 10:50 on Tuesday morning. He left here shortly after seven o'clock for Portland, intending to reach York before quitting for the day and leaving there in the morning for Portland. He will return to Boston on the boat from Portland on Thursday.

It would appear that this little hike is only a training try-out as he has planned next week from Boston for Wilmington, Del. He has met with many interesting experiences during some of his long distance hikes. Some of these experiences have been of a rather embarrassing nature. He says that the people who laugh at him and pass uncomplimentary remarks, don't

WITH A Gas Iron

Ironing day is not such a work day as formerly; those trips from the hot stove to the ironing board are eliminated. In these days gas irons have come to be part of ironing day in all modern homes. Not only do they make work easy but they do it better. They are equally good on the finest or the coarsest of clothes. You can iron hours with a gas iron at a cost of a few cents for gas.

come from the educated classes, but represent the "riff-raff" among the population.

"In the majority of the cities in this part of the country," he says, "through which I have passed barefooted, I have never had any trouble except from the so-called 'other half.' This is something I have never been able to understand but suppose it is because educated men and women understand the precious art of minding their own business."

It was about 15 years ago that Willard first took up barefoot walking and he has been at it pretty much of the time since. Several years ago he made a tramp tour of the United States and Great Britain. He visited nearly every city of consequence in this country as well as England, Ireland and Scotland. During the period Willard was "on the road" he made several notable long distance barefoot hikes. Among these hikes was one between Philadelphia and St. Louis and another notable hike was between Savannah, Ga., and Tampa, Fla. Willard also walked barefoot between New York city and Washington, D. C. Last summer he covered the distance between Worcester, Mass., and New York city without shoes and stockings.

Willard, who is 30 years old, enjoys excellent health. "To be healthy go barefoot," is his motto and he puts it into actual practice two-thirds of the time. Barefoot walking in cold weather particularly appeals to Willard and he likes an occasional barefoot stroll over snow and ice. Last December with snow covering the ground, he walked barefoot from Chelsea to Lynn and return. The Lynn papers made considerable of the "stunt."

In Chelsea, Willard's home city, he is well known and has a speaking acquaintance with more than a thousand persons. His genial personality has won for him many friends.

YORK BEACH

Bladys Gresley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Gresley of Manchester, who is passing the summer with her parents at the Billows cottage on Union Bluff, observed her ninth birthday anniversary Saturday afternoon when a few of her friends were invited in honor of the occasion. The afternoon was passed in a pleasant manner, games forming the principal amusement, while dainty refreshments were served, adding considerably to the enjoyment of the young people. Among those who assisted in making the event one to be long remembered by the little hostess were Mae Hazeltine, Winifred Ham, Reginald Gresley, Vivian Gresley and William Gresley of Manchester, Gordon Pipe and Elizabeth Pipe of Boston.

Automobile Traffic Heavy
According to a statement made by Officer Donahue, who is directing traffic on the beach square, there were more automobiles passing over the state road between 3 and 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon than at any other time this season, and he is quite positive that it was a difficult task to keep the street open and at the same time look after the interests of the large number of summer visitors, which was greatly increased by the 600 picnicers from Sanford who were passing the day at the beach.

During the evening the traffic was still heavy, and several automobile accidents happened within the town, although they all occurred out of the territory guarded by traffic officers. The first accident happened at York Corner, near the residence of C. H. Junkenius, when Freeman Putnam of York Village, who was driving a machine owned by a Boston man, struck a horse belonging to John Young, a lumber dealer from the Harbor. The horse was so badly injured that it had to be killed. It was valued at $250. When Young Putnam was returning from a trip to Portsmouth tried to avoid striking the animal, he smashed his machine into a telephone pole with such force that the pole broke off and the automobile was badly damaged.

At the upper end of Long Beach near the residence of John Holland of Boston two large touring cars came together Saturday night about 11 o'clock, and although no one was seriously hurt, one man was thrown out of his machine, sustaining a few bruises, while the other passengers were more frightened than hurt. It is claimed that one of the touring cars was owned and driven by a man from Boston, who was somewhat under the influence of liquor, and that his machine landed on the electric car track, holding up the last car in from Portsmouth until help arrived from a local garage. The other auto was not as badly damaged and was able to be driven home under its own power.

The Hotel's Filled.
There was one of the largest crowds of the season at this resort over the past week end, and various ways were arranged to accommodate the large number of persons who had neglected to make previous bookings. Every hotel in the place was filled to its capacity and every available outside room had been secured long before the arrival of the evening train. George Noyes of Manchester, proprietor of the York Inn at Short Sands, said that people were so anxious to secure accommodations that he had rented single rooms to parties of four and five persons, and he and his wife had given up their rooms. The automobile traffic over the state road Sunday was fairly heavy, but not nearly as large as it would have been if the weather had not been so threatening during the morning. According to the seasons of previous years there remain about three weeks more and the rush of the summer will be over.

J. R. Gresley of Manchester caught a prize off Union Island last week. Mr. Gresley was one of a large fishing party on the large schooner of Captain Freeman and while joking his friends about his luck he pulled in a very large cod. Captain Freeman weighed Gresley's catch and he found it tipped the scales at 27 pounds. This was the largest fish caught in the trip.

M. A. Jones of Penacook is a sojourner at the Fairmount hotel.
Mrs. Oscar Davis of Concord is located at this resort for a few days.
E. M. Hartford of Dover is included among the late arrivals at the Freeman Inn.
E. M. Radd and wife of Milton are at Young's hotel for a fortnight.
Miss Blanche Lupton of Manchester is at the Hastings-Lyman.
Lewis E. Haines and wife of Concord are spending a few days at this resort.
George W. Corliss of Manchester is rusticated at the Fairmount hotel for the remainder of the season.
Arthur DeMott of Manchester has returned to his work in that city after a five week sojourn here.
D. H. Willard and wife of Manchester are enjoying the breezes at this resort.

RISE IN COST OF OCEAN FISH
Washington, August.—The shark is blamed for the prevailing high price of fish. The Fish Commission is advised that scarcity of the fishy tribe in practically all fish wharves along the Atlantic coast has increased the price in some instances 100 per cent over the figure last summer. Most of the fish at this time of the year is obtained from the New Jersey coast, and it is in this region that scores of the man-eating sea demons have been sighted. The sharks it is said have driven the fishes, principally butter fish, bass and trout, away from the fishing grounds.

The Herald covers the local field as no other paper in this section of the state.

SOUTHERN CATTLEMEN AT SHREVEPORT

Shreveport, La., Aug. 16.—The 4th annual meeting of the Southern Cattlemen's Association convened here today and will be in session until next Thursday. Hundreds of cattlemen from Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia and Florida are in attendance. Trick qualifications and development of diversified agriculture were two of the principal subjects of discussion.

At the opening session this morning the address of welcome was delivered by Harry W. Wilson, commissioner of agriculture and immigration of Louisiana. Response was made by J. D. Price, commissioner of agriculture of Georgia. B. K. Middleton of Pochontas, Miss., then delivered his annual address. Secretary Tatt Butler of Memphis, Tenn., reported many new members.

In the afternoon the cost of raising beef cattle was discussed by W. F. Ward of the Bureau of Animal Industry, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. Marion Nelson, director of the Arkansas Experiment Station read a paper on "The Production of Forage Crops in the South." H. N. Cottrell of the Farm Development Bureau of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, urged increasing the amount of feed for beef cattle and dairy stock.

MINUTES IN MANHATTAN

New York, Aug. 14.—Unselfishness is commoner than most people believe, I thought as I saw young men and women and even a few children crowd into Dr. Abraham Zingher's office at Willard Parker hospital. They came to give their blood for the sake of sufferers they had never seen.

These men and women and children were all cripples. They were well now, but each had a limp arm or a shortened leg resulting from an attack of infantile paralysis some time, perhaps many years ago. Without hope of reward, except the satisfaction that comes from all good deeds, they responded to the physicians' appeal for the life fluid of recovered poliomyelitis patients, which has been discovered to benefit those just stricken down and still struggling against the terrible fever of the acute stages.

One of the men from whom blood was taken had both a twisted leg and a limp arm.

"I've had a tough time of it," he confided to Dr. Zingher, "ever since the disease left me this way as a child. I've had jobs and have had to give them up because I couldn't do the work. Vicious people have made me the butt of their fun and sensitive people have hurt me as much by avoiding me as if I were an unclean thing."

"All my life I've felt that I had no place in the world, that I was left out of everything worth while—until today. Now I feel that I am of some use. I can save others from my own fate."

Another volunteer was a youth who said:

"Don't tell my parents, please, doctor. They'd be frightened if they know I'm giving blood, for they do everything to make my life full and happy. But of what use are all their efforts? I'm no good, anyhow, so if all my blood will save others, take it. The blood is carefully and almost painlessly drawn. The only ill effects those giving it feel are sometimes a slight weakness, which passes off in a day or two."

500 MEN JAM OFFICE FOR JOBS

It has been declared our prosperity is so great that "everybody has a job." Nevertheless, more than 1000 men took part in a grand rush to secure half as many positions at the United States employment agency, 43 Portland street, Boston, yesterday afternoon, and several masses of glass were pushed out, one after the other, in the jam in the small office.

Men were wanted as woodsmen to work through the winter in northern New England. The demand for the jobs was so lively that police were called to take charge.

Charles Chaplin and the Bathing Girl Share Honors.

The inimitable Charles Chaplin was the guest of honor at Hotel Wentworth Tuesday evening, personified by George Law of Boston, Mass., in the annual masquerade. The belle of the ball was easily the Bathing Girl, in scant attire, who when the machine came proved to be Mr. E. E. Babb, Jr., of Melrose Highlands, Mass. Among the clever disguises of the evening were the following: Miss Pinkie Brown, Herbert Norris of Montreal; Chief John Dilworth, Pittsburgh; Mr. Pierrette, Miss Florence Ward, Portsmouth; Milk Maid, Miss Amy Cowling, Cincinnati; Miss Mouse,

Miss Marie Cremer, Chicago; Pierrette and Pierot, the Misses Brooks of Cleveland; Colored Maunty, Miss Mildred Schmitt; Sunflower, William Wilson, Montreal; Fatima, the Turkish Trophy, Miss Peggy Ellis of Los Angeles, Cal.; Medieval Lady, Miss Eleanor Wheeler of Washington, D. C.; Cook, William Todd, Cincinnati; Uncle Sam, George Grote, New Orleans; Highland Lad, Miss Catherine Craver, Chicago; Summer Girl, John Wilson, Montreal; Columbine, Miss Catherine Littlefield, Goshen, Miss Lillian Gillett, Concord, N. H.; Politist, Mrs. Frank Butler, (Annie Oakley); Spack, Howard Lehman, New York; Sailors, Messrs Sam Todd of Cincinnati and Henry Berliner of Washington, D. C.; Rough Rider, Edwin Tardiff.

Charles L. Austin

The remains of Charles L. Austin who died at Rye Beach on Sunday were taken to Boston Wednesday morning for service and interment in Mt. Auburn cemetery under the direction of Undertaker H. W. Nickerson.

IMMIGRATION,
CITIZENSHIP

Sociological Conference at Shoals Will Discuss Them and Other Subjects.

Lectures on phases of immigration, citizenship, organized labor and internationalism have been planned for the sociological conference to be held at Star Island, Isles of Shoals from Aug. 21 to Aug. 31. Daily discussion under the chairmanship of Rev. Clarence R. Skinner, director of the conference will follow the morning lectures while the evening lectures will be followed by candle light service. On Thursday, Aug. 21, the conference will open with a lecture by Dr. George W. Tupper, Y. M. C. A. immigration secretary for Massachusetts and Rhode Island on "First Aid to the Immigrant." Beginning the following Monday a series of three lectures on "The Church and the Labor Movement," will be delivered by Rev. Nicholas Van Der Pyle of Haverhill, Mass. The evening lectures on the same day will be by Dr. George W. Nasmyth, secretary of the Massachusetts branch of the League to Enforce Peace. Other evening lectures will be by Rev. Samuel N. Eaton of Philadelphia and George W. Coleman of Boston.

SWIMMING TANK
READY FOR CHILDREN

The swimming tank presented by Hon. Woodbury Langdon for the exclusive use of children at the playground was opened today by the public works department and several children took their first dip in salt water. Four and one-half ton of stone were necessary to weigh it down in place.

PUBLIC IS INVITED

The dedication of the new Green Acre Fellowship house, the gift of Mrs. Helen Ellis Cole of New York, will take place on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend these exercises which will be of an interesting character.

ON PLEASURE BENT

On Wednesday the members of the Europa Whist club left on the 7.31 train for Gloucester where they passed the day as the guests of Mrs. Walter L. Brown, Jr., a former member of the club. The day was passed in sight seeing and it is expected that the members will have some pleasant tales to relate of their visit to the Massachusetts city on Cape Ann.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Miss Doolan Surprised by Her Friends at Her Home on Fleet Street.

Some twenty or more young people invaded the home of Miss Margaret Doolan on Fleet street on Tuesday evening where they gave her a surprise on the occasion of her birthday. Shortly after the party had assembled Miss Doolan was called to the parlor and presented with a gold neck chain and pendant. The presentation was made by William Linchey to which Miss Doolan fittingly responded. During the evening the Heck quartet rendered many vocal selections and numerous songs were given by John Cronin, James Mahoney, Margaret Melandis and Edna Butler. Mary Dudley accompanied on the piano and also gave some classic selections on the instrument.

A delightful repast was served by the hostess.

About 50 local people went to Stratham this morning to attend the celebration.

STRUCK ON HEAD
BY A STONE

Hampton Young Man Injured by Flying Rock During Demonstration of Dynamiting.

A young man was seriously hurt and several others were slightly injured at the outing of the New Hampshire State Grange at Hampton Falls on Tuesday when large rocks were rained on the throng during a demonstration of dynamiting the soil and a means of fertilization.

Lawrence B. True, 19 years of age, of Hampton, was struck on the head by a stone and suffered a fractured skull. He was rushed to the Cottage hospital at Exeter where it is reported that his condition is critical.

A score of others were hit by fragments of rock, but none were hurt sufficiently to require medical attendance.

POLICE AT STRATHAM.

Capt. Thomas Burke and Patrolman Thomas Condon are doing special duty at the anniversary celebration at Stratham today.

Lots of time yet to wear a real summer suit. Our stock still offers a big selection. One of the smartest styles is a blue flannel sport coat with white flannel trousers. The pinch-back model suit we show in blue and gray flannels, gray tweeds and fancy mixtures. Prices now, $10.00, $12.00, $15.00. Then there are the Palm Beach suits at $7.50.
